ANACOSTIA.

President J. E. Powell of the Epworth League of the Anacostia Methodist . Episcopal Church has tendered his resignation on account of differences of opinion with the pastor, Rev. James McLaren, in reference to the propriety of some amusements which were provided for the members of the league at a recent reception by Mr. Powell at his home, "Rose Croft," in Prince George's county, Md. A meeting of the league will be held shortly, when it is understood action will be taken in the matter, and it is said the members will refus to allow Mr. Powell to give up his office in the society.

The members of the Epworth League and the M. E. Sunday school and church generally were given a reception last night at the beautiful home of Mr. H. A. A new system of collecting subscriptions due for bullding the church was adopted at a meeting of the trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held last night, and hereafter the work will be looked after by the trustees themselves, each of whom will make it his personal business to see a certain number of the delinquents, and if necessary, urge them to pay up.

John Speed, an old colored man, who resides in that part of Hillsdale known as Mt. Zlon Hill, created considerable excitement for a time yesterday by standing at the head of a flight of stairs in his home and threatening to shoot Constable Gibbons, who, with several assistants, had gone to the place to evict Speed and his family for non-payment of rent, although Speed claimed that no rent was due by him.

The property, which has long been in dispute belonged criginally to an old woman.

Speed claimed that no rent was due by him.

The property, which has long been in dispute, belonged originally to an old woman named Mary Harter, to whom it was left by her husband at the death of the latter. Under the terms of the will the property was, at Mrs. Harter's death, to be divided equally among the eight children of the couple. Mrs. Harter had, however, during her widowhood, borrowed $250 upon the place, giving therefor a deed of trust. Five of the heirs, it is alleged, joined with their mother in giving the deed, but three declined to do so. Among the latter was the daughter who subsequently became Mrs. Speed. The money was not paid when due, and the person holding the deed and not getting any rent, secured a judgment and writ of ejectment, which Constable Gibbons yesterday went to serve.

It is alleged that the constable and his men broke through the door of the house with a hatchet, but they were unwilling to proceed further when they found themselves confronted with the weapon in the hands of Speed, and Policeman Marr was sent for. His arrival served to quiet matters, and Speed then threw down his weapon and stood by while his articles of household goods were carried out into the street. The affair occasioned much feeling among the residents and Walter A. McKinney and William Miller became engaged in a fight over it. Both were arrested by Officer Marr and taken to the Anacostia substation, where, after depositing $10 collateral, McKinney was released. Miller was locked up. Rev. H. T. Stevenson and other prominent temperance men in Anacostia have determined that Mr. Benjamin Mundell, who has applied for a license to open a saloon in the town, shall not get the permission if they can prevent such action by the excise board, and are preparing to make a fight in reference to the matter.

The only other game of the afternoon was the final of the consolation series, which was won by Hills from Sioussat by the score of 8-6, 6-3, 8-6.

The doubles were postponed till this afternoon. The prizes of the tournament were on exhibition yesterday. The first prize m singles is a handsome gold-lined silver cup; the second a silver-topped tobacco jar. The two first prizes in the doubles are a silver-mounted fiask and a silver back clothes brush, while the second prizes are two silk umbrellas. The consolation prize is a silver-mounted hat brush.

GOOD WORDS FOR CORNELL

Rowing Like Machines and Making Their Bont Go Fast.

LONDON, June 19 .- Sporting Life says the critics have "oted the Cornell oarsmer short and catchy in their style. "So they were," says Sporting Life, "judged by the English standard; but even at the outse they cleared more water than most people gave them credit for. In ten days they have improved wonderfully, both in body work and in length of stroke. Our repre-sentative clocked them yesterday from the Fawley boat house to the finishing point. The regular crew timed three and a half minutes. Then the four substitutes were given seats for the second trial, which occupied four seconds longer. This was not bad, considering that the regulars were blown and half the crew were substitutes. Their best time over the full course since they have been here is seven minutes, which shows that they are not so slow as many people would have them. They are evidently in splendid condition, and can stay as long as they like. The best indersement of this assertion is the vast amount of work they did yesterday afternoon. They have done exceedingly well at the barrier test, and they got from gate to gate a long way inside a minute pace, comparing with the best Leander has shown. Their sleeved Jerseys are very irksome, and there is scarcely a man of them who is not suffering from the chafing which necessarily follows the radical change which they have been called upon to make in their costume."

Truth, commenting upon the Cornell crew, says: "Al'though not big men, they are strong and wiry, and they have been conched to almost machine-like perfection." Fawley boat house to the finishing point.

are strong and wiry, and they have beer coached to almost machine-like perfection and a similarity of style that speaks vol umes for their coaching. They seldom paddle less than thirty-nine, and their racing stroke is somewhere in the fifties. There is no body swing, and they are very short in

Their style, therefore, is very different from that favored for the forest the Mortlake course. neat with their hands. Their style, therefore, is very different from that favored here. Over the Putney to Mortlake course they would not have a chance. The Henley course is very trying, and if they succeed there will be a revolution in English rowing. But this is unlikely, and it is not improbable they will return with their notions of rowing considerably modified, for they are just as anxious as our men to pick up points. Of course, it would be a nasty blow to English rowing if the Cornellers won the Grand; but, at the same time, it could not be won by better sportsmen."

Last year's race was won in 7.22. The Henley record is 6.51.

A. O. H. Disqualified.

The falent had slightly the better of it in the scramble between them and the nine chalkers of odds at the Alexander Island track yesterday, three favorites, a third and second choice and an outsider winning The feature of the day's racing was the second in the third race, for fculing Billy Boy, the latter being given the place. West Side, in winning the last event, ran the 6 1-2 furlongs in 1.22 1-2. The track was fast, the attendance large and the racing fairly interesting. The winners were: Adaxus, 15 to 1; Hippona, 5 to 2; Eclipse, 7 to 10; Mirage, 4 to 5; Forest, 5 to 1, and West Side, 2 to 5.

Notes of the Game.

At New York today. Better team work at the bat by the visitors.

Mercer pitched good ball and does not leserve the odium of losing the game. The ocal team has fallen off terribly in its patting in the past week.

It was ladies' day, and the grandstand was completely filled, every seat being taken. A large majority of these specta tors were of the fair sex, who are acceptng Messrs. Wagner's hospitality with enthuslasm.

permitting drunken men to enter the grandstand at any time, but especially on ladies stand at any time, but especially on ladies' day. Yesterday two men who were very much the worse for liquor insisted upon crowding next to some of the ladies and made themselves very objectionable. Such men should be ejected without ceremony. The series with the western clubs that has just ended showed that the present team is stronger than it was last year. It is not stronger than it was last year. It is not often that Washington has had a team that orten that washington has had a team that can win a majority of the games on its own grounds, but that this is the case this season was demonstrated in the seventeen games just closed, of which Washington won ten and lost seven. The results of the series were as follows:

Gray Racing Bill Questioned. The question as to the constitutionality of the Gray racing bill has been argued be-fore Judge Bischoff in the special term of the court of common pleas in New York. The question arose on a demurrer raised by the defendant in the action brought by John C. Dudley, who is the owner of several trotting horses, to recover $100, being eral trotting horses, to recover $100, being the amount of a purse, and $75 added in sweepstakes, announced to be given by the Flushing Jockey Club at a meeting held on its tracks on May 15.

It was argued by counsel for Flushing Jockey Club that the law passed by the last legislature was null and void, as it authorized gambling, which was expressly prohibited under the constitution.

Judge Bischoff took the papers and reserved decision.

Faxon is trying to make a record of 1,700 miles for one month, which will be easy for him if he keeps up the pace so far set. He proposes to travel through Connecticut, New York. New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ma-ryland, Ohio, Massachusetts and back to his home in Hartford.
